<tbody>
<tr>
<td>MBA 639</td>
<td>New Product Strategy</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>This course examines marketing’s increasingly important role in new product development. Advances in communication technologies have worked to enhance the customer’s role in the new product development process for both consumer and industrial goods. A key role of marketing is to bring the ‘voice of the customer’ into the new product development process in a way that facilitates customer satisfaction. New technologies are also speeding up the new product development process and shortening product and brand life cycles. This course employs a ‘learn-by-doing’ approach to understanding concepts, techniques, tools, models and methods employed by marketing at various stages in the development and launch of new products. Prerequisite: MBA 502 offered: occasionally.</td>
