

FINE ARTS

Program Director: Eileen Sullivan

The Art History, Music, and Studio Arts programs provide opportunities for students to obtain a sound knowledge of the visual and performing arts. We offer dynamic and engaging coursework for all undergraduate students as well as those who wish to pursue minors in music, studio arts, and art history. These programs enable students to receive training for professional careers in the areas of music performance and a variety of positions in cultural institutions. The program's central objective is to encourage students to explore the arts for their own personal development, as well as to enhance their careers in other fields.

Many Music students are involved in one of the three dynamic student ensembles, Chamber Orchestra, Chorale, and Jazz Ensemble. They perform in on and off-campus venues as they continue their creative practices as musicians. These ensembles provide a vital connection to the arts community in western New York. Studio Arts students have the opportunities to learn from lectures by contemporary artists on and off campus, to visit art exhibits at local galleries and museums, and are invited to exhibit their work both on and off campus in special events, such as Ignatian Scholarship Day, as well as in gallery spaces on campus.

Art History students study the development and use of visual culture, allowing them to understand cultures from the past as well as our current global community. Art History minors can prepare students for careers in the visual arts, but are also applicable to any career or life path that entails observation, curiosity, critical thinking skills, and communication.

Our Art History and Music students also have opportunities to complete internships in area cultural spaces. In the past, students have completed internships at the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra, the Buffalo AKG Art Museum (formally known as the Albright-Knox Art Gallery), the Darwin D. Martin House Complex, the Western New York Book Arts Center, among many others.

Additional activities geared towards the interests of Fine Arts students include guest speakers, Makerspace activities, and events supported by ArtsCanisius and the Borders and Migration Initiative.
