BUSINESS CORE

All business majors at Canisius College take a common set of courses designed to provide students with a breadth of business knowledge and skills. Upon completion of the business core, students should understand and appreciate the importance of several functional business areas and how these areas contribute collectively to the performance of organizations. In today’s business environment, managers are frequently expected to work in cross-functional teams, understand how their specialty contributes to the overall mission and strategy of the organization and eventually advance to positions of leadership that require an understanding and appreciation for multiple divisions within an organization. As you will see in the curriculum tab, the common set of business courses known as the Business Core provides a strong, multi-faceted foundation that prepares students to become leaders in their organizations and excel in the globally competitive marketplace.

Business International Requirement

The Business International Requirement is part of the business core curriculum and is designed to help prepare students for doing business in an increasingly global economy. All business majors must complete a two course sequence of classes that emphasize either a modern language or a non-U.S. culture. If students elect to satisfy the requirement by taking language courses, the courses must be in the same modern language. Note that American Sign Language and classical or ancient languages such as Greek and Latin do not satisfy the Business International Requirement.

The list of non-U.S. culture classes that satisfy the requirement is updated regularly and can be obtained from your advisor or department chair. Both classes must be related to the same culture (e.g., two courses about Asian history, two courses about European culture, two Latin American or Hispanic courses, etc.) As an alternative to modern language or non-U.S. culture classes, students can satisfy the Business International Requirement by participating in a semester-long study abroad program.
