Prerequisite: minimum grade of C in GER 216 or permission of the DMLLC chair.
Offered: fall of even-numbered years.

GER 324 Topics in Conversation II
A continuation of GER 323. Exclusive use of German in class. Language lab required.
Prerequisite: minimum grade of C in GER 216 or permission of the DMLLC chair.
Offered: spring of odd-numbered years.

GER 365 Representations of Nazism in Contemporary Euro Literature
This course explores various representations of Nazi Germany in contemporary fiction. Students will read four contemporary novels and reflect on their relationship to history, how they are shaped by it, and how they represent it. The focus is not so much on the actual historical event itself, but rather the focus will be on the human experience reflected in the novels themselves. As part of our thinking about this literature we will consider literary phenomena such as reference and self-reflexibility as a way into both the study and the discussion of the important human questions that the novels ask. Furthermore, we will consider the problems and possibilities of historical representation in contemporary fiction.
Fulfills College Core: Core Capstone
Offered: occasionally.

GER 400 German Internship
Professional Internship. Open to ALL majors, though intermediate German knowledge expected. Internships require an application and approval by the associate dean.
